Navajo County Blackout Hits on Fridays

Say "No" to drugs by wearing a "Not Even Once" black T

Left: Margarite Celiberti and Stephanie Miller are among the first Cellular one employees to join the Navajo County Black Out, wearing Not Even Once black t-shirts for "Drug Free Fridays".

Launching its t-shirt fundraiser this month, Friends of Navajo County Coalition Against Drug Abuse has garnered support from companies large and small. Cellular One has purchased 100 t-shirts for its staff, and Pinetop's Mail Copy Plus now dresses its staff of four in the t-shirts every Friday.

"The t-shirts make a statement in support of a drug free environment and remind wearers and those who see them that it is up to to take back our community that runs rampant with drugs," said Coalition Coordinator Debe Campbell.

The shirts are available for $10 in small, medium, large, xlarge and xxlarge. They may be ordered on line or through the website at friendsofthecoalition@gmail.com or friendsofthecoalition.com . Shirts also are for sale at Navajo County Courthouse in Holbrook, Show Low Public Library, Expect Good Things boutique in Pinetop, Blue Ridge Mid School Room 340, and White Mountain Radio on Porter Mountain Road.

Printed locally, the black shirts are 50/50 cotton/polyester featuring "Arizona Meth Project" on the front and "Meth Not Even Once" on the back.

Proceeds from the fund-raiser will benefit education, out reach and projects initiated by the Coalition.
