Locally Designed Underage Drinking T-shirt Raises Funds

Navajo County Drug Project (NCDP) rolls out its new fund-raising and substance abuse awareness t-shirt, now available for sale. The shirt features the award winning design by Holbrook High School student Lyle Kinlicheenie from Ganado, Az. He was the top finisher in NCDP's Underage Drinking Prevention Art Contest earning a $150 cash prize. The awards event and t-shirts were sponsored by Summit Healthcare Regional Medical Center.

Kinlicheenie's design features Native American symbols including clouds, prayer feather, frog, deer hoof and bear claw in a shield. Entries came from across the county and will be featured in an August 2010 to June 2011 school calendar.

T-shirts are available on line at www.navajocountydrugproject.com for $10 plus postage, along with several other substance abuse prevention items. T-shirts also are available at Show Low Library, Mail Copy Plus in Lakeside and Eddie's Country Store in Pinetop.
